

Overview
This workbook provides identified Low-Income and Disadvantaged Community (LIDAC) census tracts based off of the 2010 census and data from the Climate and Economic Justice Screening Tool (CEJST). This input is referenced in the LIDAC benefits analysis section of Georgia's Priority Climate Action Plan (PCAP). Note that the CPRG definition of LIDACs are broader than just CEJST, and include tracts identified by EJScreen. However, CEJST has a greater depth of information than EJScreen and was used for most LIDAC benefits analysis, although all LIDAC tracts were identified in the PCAP and engaged through outreach.

GA LIDAC Communities Disclaimer
Ernst & Young, LLP (EY) prepared the attached Report only for Georgia Environmental Protection Division (GA EPD) pursuant to an agreement solely between EY and GA EPD. EY did not perform its services on behalf of or to serve the needs of any other person or entity, and this methodology may not be appropriate to use by other entities. Accordingly, EY expressly disclaims any duties or obligations to any other person or entity based on its use of the attached Report. Any other person or entity must perform its own due diligence inquiries and procedures for all purposes.
GA EPD alone is responsible for any decision to implement actions identified in our Report or other actions from the provision of our services and for compliance with applicable regulatory requirements. Client is solely responsible for the preparation of its Climate Pollution Reduction Grant submissions and applications, including making all of the judgements inherent in preparing them.
EY did not perform an audit, review, examination or other form of attestation in accordance with any generally accepted auditing, review or other assurance standards of GA EPD. Accordingly, EY did not express any form of assurance on EPD. The observations relating to CPRG decision and opportunities that EY provided to GA EPD were: 1) based on the facts and circumstances present to EY; 2) designed to assist GA EPD in reaching its own conclusions; and 3) do not constitute our concurrence with or support of GA EPD partners and jurisdictions.
