

The Georgia Environmental Protection Division (EPD) is announcing updates to the Georgia EPD Online System (GEOS) for electronic permit applications.

The features include improved public access through the Public Inquiry Portal on the GEOS website. This will allow the public to search for and view completed applications and both draft and final documents.

Anything marked as “issued” will be immediately available on the Public Portal.

GEOS is currently only available for Title V air quality permits and municipal NPDES wastewater discharge permits. For further information on GEOS, go to the GEOS Training website.